Hydrobiologia

The International Journal of Aquatic Sciences

Volume 524, 1 August 2004

Taxonomic revision

New genera and species of 'giant' ostracods (Crustacea: Cyprididae) from Australia
S.A. Halse, J.M. McRae 1–52

Primary research papers

Evaluation of two monitoring approaches to assess effects of waste water disposal on histological alterations in fish
D. Bernet, H. Schmidt-Posthaus, T. Wahli, P. Burkhardt-Holm 53–66

The role of the predaceous copepod Parabroteas sarsi in the pelagic food web of a large deep Andean lake
M. Reissig, B. Modenutti, E. Balseiro, C. Queimaliños 67–77

Limnological aspects of two tropical crater lakes (Lago Biao and Lago Loreto) on the island of Bioko (Equatorial Guinea)
R. Schabetsberger, G. Drozdowski, I. Drozdowski, C.D. Jersabek, E. Rott 79–90

Study of the insects associated with the floodwater mosquito Ochlerotatus albifasciatus (Diptera: Culicidae) and their possible predators in Buenos Aires Province, Argentina
R.E. Campos, L.A. Fernández, V.E. Sy 91–102

Stage-specific cannibalism and spontaneous cyst hatching in the freshwater fairy shrimp Streptocephalus proboscideus Frauenfeld
H.J. Dumont, A. Jawahar Ali 103–113

The colonization response of lotic chironomid larvae to substrate size and heterogeneity
J.G. Rae 115–124

The effect of riffle-scale environmental variability on macroinvertebrate assemblages in a tropical stream
L. Boyero, J. Bosch 125–132

A comparison of the efficacy of pond-net and box sampling methods in turloughs – Irish ephemeral aquatic systems
Á. O Connor, S. Bradish, T. Reed, J. Moran, E. Regan, M. Visser, M. Gormally, M.S. Skeffington 133–144

A century of change in macrophyte abundance and composition in response to agricultural eutrophication
C.J. Egertson, J.A. Kopaska, J.A. Downing 145–156

Sediment raking as a tool for enhancement of phosphate and productivity of water in tropical pond system
P. Chakraborty, J.K. Biswas, B.B. Jana 157–165

Physical and chemical limnology of a subsaline athalassic lake in West Greenland
N.W. Willemse, O. van Dam, P.-J. van Helvoort, R. Dankers, M. Brommer, J. Schokker, T.E. Valstar, H. de Wolf 167–192

Ecological significance of nitrogen cycling by tubificid communities in shallow eutrophic lakes of the Danube Delta
R. Geta, C. Postolache, A. Vădineanu 193–202

Observations on some species of Chaetoceros (Bacillariophyceae) with reduced number of Setae from a Tropical Coastal Lagoon
J.A. Aké-Castillo, S.L. Guerra-Martínez, M.E. Zamudio-Reséndiz 203–213

Interrelation of diel and seasonal change, involving summer thermal stratification, weather variables and a mobile dinoflagellate in a productive English lake
J.F. Talling 215–227

The effect of artificial destratification on phytoplankton in a reservoir
W.-M. Heo, B. Kim 229–239

Diatom model affinity (DMA), a new index for water quality assessment
S.I. Passy, R.W. Bode 241–251

The utility of carbon and nitrogen isotope analyses to trace contributions from fish farms to the receiving communities of freshwater lakes: a pilot study in Esthwaite Water, UK
J. Grey, S. Waldron, R. Hutchinson 253–262
